

Submission from Mr John Coombs

Firstly I'm a supporter of Hacked Off who has expressed an interest in engaging with this consultation.

The issue that matters most to me is:

Newspapers, by what they publish, are one of the major drivers of political debate and helps the public in considering the merits of political arguments. I am writing in support of IMPRESS' code requiring newspapers to print corrections of equal size to the breach when they get things wrong. The public must have access to accurate information.

Kind regards,

John Coombs
